TALES FROM THE

GREEK MYTHS

‘Do you want to read a story?’

‘I didn’t bring one with me, daddy. I left them all at home.’

‘We’ll find something. Come on...’

‘We’re going to find a story in the forest?’

‘Absolutely! The glades in the forest are full of stories.’

‘OK, let’s go. But let me get my torch from the tent. It’s night and there’s no moon. How will we read without any light?’

‘No! Don’t get the torch. The story we are looking for doesn’t need light. To be precise, the less light there is, the clearer it will be.’

‘I have no idea what you’re talking about.’

Gods have the power of transformation. They take various forms and get involved in the lives of mortals. Their adventures are then transformed into myths. And myths travel by story-telling and books, and they are transformed into truth. Just look at the myth of the beautiful Callisto, whose transformation into a bear ran her and her son a merry dance, and was written forever on the book of the sky.

This series offers a new reading of the ancient Greek myths. They are not old, worn-out stories, but gripping tales of timeless human adventures, containing all the fears and joys that have marked and continue to mark the human soul.
