Present Perfect Simple, Present Perfect Continuous

Present Perfect Simple

Form	Use	Examples
I / You / We / They have eaten He / She / It has eaten I / You / We / They have not eaten He / She / It has not eaten Have I / you / we / they eaten ? Has he / she / it eaten ? Short forms: I have → I've she has → she's have not → haven't has not → hasn't	1 actions that happened in the past but are still relevant (the specific time the action took place is unknown or unimportant) 2 actions that started in the past and are still going on (usually with for , since , how long) 3 actions that were repeated several times in the past 4 with time periods that are not finished yet 5 to announce recent events 6 with This is the first / second time ... and superlatives: This is the best / worst ...	Charlotte has lost her keys so she can't open the door. Have you met the new teacher? Nathan hasn't sent me a message. Alex has lived in New York for 10 years. I haven't eaten anything since breakfast. How long have they had a sailing boat? I have travelled abroad twice this year. Jack hasn't spoken to Thomas today . A lion has escaped from the zoo! This is the first time we have visited Paris. This is the best book I've read for a long time.

Time Expressions: just, already, always, never, ever, yet, before, lately, recently, for, since, so far, how long, today, this week / month / year

The lesson has already / just begun.
Joshua has never tried Mexican food.
Have you ever ridden a horse?
Has the match started yet?
Have we met before?

Sally has known Max for six months. (for + period of time)
Ben has lived in Rome since 2010. (since + a point in time)
It hasn't rained recently.
So far, I've tried on three shirts. / I've tried on three shirts so far.
How long have you lived here?

Notes

- There is a difference in meaning between have been to and have gone to.
Alicia has been to Australia. (She visited Australia at some time in the past.)
Alicia has gone to Australia. (She went to Australia and is still there.)
- The past participle of regular verbs is verb + -ed.
For a list of irregular verbs, see page 171.

Comparison of Present Perfect Simple and Past Simple

Present Perfect Simple

- actions that happened in the past but affect the present
Bella has spent all her money. (She can't buy anything else.)
- actions or states that started in the past and continue to the present
I have worked at the zoo for a long time. (I still work there.)

Past Simple

- actions that happened in the past and do not affect the present
Bella spent all her money yesterday. (stating a fact)
- actions or states that started and finished in the past
I worked at the zoo for a long time. (I no longer work there.)

Notes

- When the exact time is stated, we use Past Simple, not Present Perfect Simple.
The lesson ended at 11 o'clock. (not: The lesson has ended at 11 o'clock. X)
- When since is followed by a clause (subject + verb), the verb is usually in Past Simple.
We haven't eaten anything since we got home. (not: since we have got home X)

Present Perfect Continuous

Form	Use	Examples
I / You / We / They have been eating He / She / It has been eating I / You / We / They haven't been eating He / She / It hasn't been eating Have I / you / we / they been eating ? Has he / she / it been eating ?	1 actions that started in the past and continue in the present with an emphasis on the duration of the action (often with for and since) 2 actions that started in the past and have just finished. We can see the results of the action in the present.	George has been waiting at the train station for half an hour. I have been staying with my aunt since Easter. Nadia's hair is wet because she has been swimming . The twins have been cleaning their room all morning and they're tired now.

Time Expressions: lately, recently, for, since, how long, all day / morning / week
Sadie has been learning Chinese for three months.
How long have you been standing there?
I have been studying for my history exam all week.

Notes

We don't usually use stative verbs in the continuous form.
I have known Jessica since high school.
Thomas has always wanted a pet.
For spelling rules for adding -ing in Present Perfect Continuous, see page 173.
